Henry Aldrich Is Plagued By New Troubles With Gal

Youth Has Hard Time Winning Bobsled Race Without Sled; Drama Set On Cavalcade Program

Henry Aldrich finds it tough sledding to win a bob-sled race without a sled in the broadcast of "The Aldrich Family," starring Ezra Stone, over WJZ Tuesday at 8:00 p. m.

If he hadn't suspected that the favors of a certain red-headed girl were in one way or another reflected in the matter, Henry might have hesitated, under the circumstances, in accepting his rival's challenge to a race.

The story of Mehitabel Wing, young Hudson Valley woman who made a journey on horseback 170 years ago which makes pale the much-heralded ride of Paul Revere, will be dramatized as the third chapter in the current series of Cavalcade of America broadcasts Tuesday at 9 p. m. over WJZ.

Mehitabel lived at Poughkeepsie in a time when Hudson Valley farmers were cruelly oppressed by the English. Mehitabel, whose husband was sentenced to death, galloped alone 70 miles thru the night to New York to secure a stay of sentence from the governor. The next day she rode back, arriving at a time critical not only for her husband but for his fellow farmers.

Jeanette Nolan, who will be starred as Mehitabel, is widely known in radio as a girl of many voices. In 1934 she was a permanent member of Mary Pickford's supporting cast in that star's first radio series, and later was heard with the March of Time and the Cavalcade of America.

Elsa Lancaster, English stage and screen star, and wife of Charles Laughton, will be the guest of Edward Weeks, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, during the Meet Mr. Weeks program over WJZ Tuesday at 9:30 p. m. The discussion will revolve around those people in the professions — particularly those connected with the theatre — who have found time to write books.

Taking a culinary slice of life for his sermon, Tom Wallace, keeper of Uncle Walter's Dog House, will reveal in drama form how the beans were royally spilled in the Busby kitchen, thus bouncing Mr. Busby into the canine caravan serial during the Tuesday broadcast at 10:30 p. m. over WEAF. Musical highlights will include Virginia Verrill's vocal description of "The Wind at My Window" and Bob Strong's orchestral arrangements of "Stop, Its Wonderful," "Avalon" and a college medley salute to New Mexico, Washington university of St. Louis and Carnegie Tech.

The "Undercover Squad," silent workers in America's relentless pursuit of criminal activities, will furnish another thrilling dramatization during Johnny Presents, Tuesday at 8:00 p. m. over WEAF. On the musical side are Johnny Green, and his own orchestral arrangements; Genevieve Rowe, soprano; Glenn Cross, baritone; Floyd Sherman, tenor; Frances Adair, contralto; Beverly, and the Swing Fourteen, introduced by the familiar voice of Johnny the Call Boy.

Bob Hope and Bill Goodwin enroll in a military institute with Jerry Colonna as headmaster and Skinnay Ennis as corp-usele on the weekly Hope funfest Tuesday at 10:00 p. m. over WEAF. Brenda and Cobina burrow thru the wall to have a chance at men with no women competing. "Careless" will be sung by Six Hits and a Miss and Judy Garland will sing "Blue Skies."

Molly's difficulties with the wood-working aspirations of her husband will be continued during the Fibber McGee show Tuesday at 9:30 over WEAF. Bill Thompson will be heard as several well-known citizens of Wistful Vista. Jimmy Shields, tenor, will be heard with Billy Mills' orchestra, and Harlow Wilcox will be heard as usual.

The first hand story of how it feels to have $45,000 dumped unexpectedly into your lap will be told on the Court of Missing Heirs at 8:30 p. m. over WABC when David Barry, of Long Beach, Calif., formerly known as Carl Proehl, of Minneapolis, first heir to the unearth by the program which restores legacies to rightful owners is heard in person.

Harry S. Morehouse, son of Captain Morehouse, will tell of his father's amazing discovery of the famous phantom ship, the Marie Celeste, on Gabriel Heatter's "We, The People" program Tuesday at 9.00 p. m. over WABC.

Among the others on the program will be Johnny Russell, Shirley Temple's new leading man; the surviving members of the original Dixieland band, and Ish-Ti-Opi, noted Indian baritone.

Two Great Stories Booked On Sigma Screen Wednesday

"Allegheny Uprising" And "Private Detective" Set To Open; "Eternally Yours" Closes Run Tuesday

The heroic story of an intrepid band of frontiersmen who struggled valiantly against the onslaughts of treacherous Indian tribes, is contained in the spectacular epic, "Allegheny Uprising," starring Claire Trevor and John Wayne commencing at the Sigma theatre Wednesday. Also booked with the stirring story is "Private Detective" starring Jane Wyman and Dick Foran.

Showing for the last times Tuesday will be "Eternally Yours," with David Niven and Loretta Young in the romantic leads.

The dark-eyed sensation of the year, Linda Darnell, is co-starred with Tyrone Power in the Quilna hit "Day Time Wife." Miss Darnell, cast as the pretty wife of an office executive who spends too much time with his secretary, ventures into the business world to find out what a secretary has that a wife doesn't have. And finds out!

Flaming with all the colorful intensity of men who dare death in the pursuance of duty, "Coast Guard," current Lyric attraction, unfolds the thrilling dramatic screen records of the shoreline protectors. Featured members of the brilliant cast are Randolph Scott, Frances Dee, Ralph Bellamy and Walter Connolly. Also at the Lyric is "News is Made at Night."

At the Ohio is the laugh riot of three smart cadets of V. M. I. one year after graduation. "Brother Rat and a Baby" is the title and the cast includes such stellar performers as Priscilla Lane, Jane Bryan, Jane Wyman, Wayne Morris, Eddie Albert, Ronald Reagan, and a new sensation just graduating from the crib—Peter B. Good.

The smash Broadway musical hit, "Babes In Arms," is the current State film with Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland reunited at the head of the most glittering cast of youthful song, dance and acting performers seen for a long time. Filled with an armful of new song hits and lavish production specialties, the picture tells a heart-warming story of theatrical life and the courage of its entertainers. Also showing at the State is "Two Bright Boys," starring Jackie Cooper and Freddie Bartholomew.

OHIO

About a year ago, a highly hilarious comedy called "Brother Rat" romped merrily across the screen, dealing with the adventures and misadventures of a trio of V. M. I. cadets and their rule-breaking prom "dates." "Brother Rat and a Baby" picks up the same youngsters a lear later and gives us another chapter in their checkered careers. One of the gayest, most rollicking comedies to come out of Hollywood in many a moon, it was greeted with waves of appreciative laughter by the audiences at the Ohio theatre.

If you're up on your "Brother Rat" lore, you'll remember that the cadet played by Eddie Albert became a father the same day that he became an alumni of V. M. I. The baby is a year old now, and we go on record now as saying that we've never seen a cuter, saucier or more trouble-making youngster that Peter B. Good, the gentleman in the three-cornered pants who plays the second half of the title role. With the exception of Peter, the cast is the same as in the original story. Jane Bryan is Eddie Albert's wife, Priscilla Lane and Wayne Morris take up their romance where they left it in "Brother Rat," as do Jane Wyman and Ronald Reagan.

The story, which was written by John Monks, Jr. and Fred F. Finkelhoffe, takes up the adventures of the "Brother Rat" characters just one year after graduation from V. M. I. One of the three erstwhile cadets is already a family man, the other two are just having girl trouble. "Commencement", the baby who was born on graduation day, is the real little trouble-maker and his exploits land his mother and father and the other two couples into an hilarious series of adventures and misadventures.

QUILNA

Six short months ago an unheard of youngster named Linda Darnell sat sighing in a darkened movie theatre in Dallas, Texas, as she gazed up at the shadow of Tyrone Power on the screen.

Like every other woman in that theatre, she was picturing herself up there beside the handsome "King of the Movies."

For today Linda Darnell is a full-fledged Hollywood star, sharing stellar billing with Tyrone Power in "Day-time Wife," the production which marks her second screen appearance.

Linda Darnell is the dark-eyed little lovely who made such a sensational screen debut in Elsa Maxwell's "Hotel For Women."

In "Day-time Wife" Tyrone and Linda present as charming and handsome a pair as the screen has ever shown. It's a gay romantic comedy about a young married couple, very much in love. Then Tyrone begins 'phoning Linda with a frequency that would be flattering, if it weren't for the fact that he only 'phones to say he'll be detained at the office. Linda begins to wonder whether that wandering minstrel that's supposed to be in every man hasn't begun to manifest itself in Tyrone. She suspects it's that pretty secretary of his, Wendy Barrie. So, spurred on by Binnie Barnes' experienced wisdom, and with the help of suave business man Warren William, she works out a merry little scheme that quickly and entertainingly brings friend husband back into film from a screen play by Art line. Joan Davis contributes to the general gaiety.

Gregory Ratoff directed the Arthur and Robert Harari. The story was written by Rex Taylor. Raymond Griffith was associate producer.

SIGMA

Claire Trevor and John Wayne, who, as a romantic outdoor team, won a legion of new followers after their signal performances in "Stagecoach," repeat their sensational success in "Allegheny Uprising," saga of America's pre-Revolutionary period commencing Wednesday at the Sigma theatre.

Miss Trevor, a versatile actress, has achieved recognition on the screen thru a wide variety of characterizations, but it was not until her portrayal of a pioneer girl in "Stagecoach" that she really found her forte. Wayne, on the other hand, has appeared in innumerable western films with modest success. His performance in "Stagecoach," however, catapulted him into the top ranks of outdoor stars.

In their current vehicle, "Allegheny Uprising" the young players have their finest opportunity to date. Wayne is cast as James Smith, grim leader of the Pennsylvania settlers who, in the 1760's took up arms against the British Crown because army officials refused to halt dishonest traders from supplying Indians with arms and ammunition. The story, based on documental facts contained in Neil Swanson's novel, "The First Rebel," depicts one of the most stirring chapters in American history.

Claire Trevor plays the daughter of a colonist, a fiery-tempered girl desperately in love with the "rebel" chief. Her efforts to win his affections and keep him from his dangerous escapades provide some of the lighter moments in this exciting drama.

Directed by William Seiter, "Allegheny Uprising" features in the supporting cast George Sanders, Brian Donlevy, Wilfrid Lawson, Robert Barrat, John F. Hamilton, Moroni Olsen and Eddie Quillan.

David Niven and Loretta Young are starred in the current Sigma attraction, "Eternally Yours," the story of the hilarious complications of the love life and business life of the great magician, Arturo.

SHERIFF'S RACE DRAWS ENTRIES IN HANCOCK-CO.

(Lima News Bureau)

FINDLAY, Jan. 16—A survey of the political situation here today revealed that the race for nomination as sheriff of Hancock-co promised to be one of considerable interest.

William Rudolph, county dog warden, now has petitions in circulation, and will seek Democratic approval at the primaries in May. At the same time, Sheriff Lyle Harvitt announced he would take out petitions today for Republican renomination. He is rounding out his third consecutive term on the job.

Walter Elsea, Jackson-tp farmer, is reported to be looking with some favor on the post and probably soon will be getting his friends' names on his petitions in several days. He is a Republican.

Several others mentioned for the post and who probably will seek nomination are A. T. McCown, Findlay salesman, and Ralph Henry, Orange-tp. Both are Democrats.

Altho he has not declared himself, Emerson L. Burrell, resident district engineer for the state highway department, is mentioned as likely timber for the county engineer's post as a Republican. He refused to comment on the situation.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS TO ELECT AND HEAR HERBERT

The Young Republican club of Allen-co will meet at Republican headquarters in the Faurot-bldg for an election of officers at 7 p. m. Tuesday. Lt. Gov. Paul Herbert will speak at 8 p. m., following the election.

A big crowd is expected, including many veterans as Herbert is head of the State Republican Veterans' club.

It is estimated the average diner on an airliner travels 100 miles while he is eating lunch or dinner.
