ROUNDY SAYS:

Well this is Derby Day.

Tomorrow I can tell you who should won and all that stuff.

The next event will be the Fourth of July. Time really flies folks.

Corn is supposed to be knee high by the Fourth. It will be lucky to tickle your toes this Fourth.

Unless the sun goes nutty and comes through with some barn burners.

I got to see Bob Donals of the Holmes Tire company. Two of my tires are about to hold your ears brother the noise is coming. So recap job might help.

Rice the sonotone guy tried new thing on my ear. I can even hear the guys sneaking up on my back porch with the pheasants and fish with this baby.

I met Mel Ott for the first time he said I heard a lot about you Roundy. I told him I heard a lot more about him than he heard about me. He said I don't know about that he said I am from New Orleans and you are a well known character down there.

They wanted me to be toastmaster in St. Louis June 13th they are going to have a big sport program there for the big shots in the sports and radio world.

I am thinking it over whether I am big enough for it or if I should stick on the lawnmower.

I am just beginning to find out how easy it is to fool the people if I would have known this ten years ago I could have made some money.

That is what I get for falling on my head when I was young.

It seems like 60% of the people all want to buy a tavern now.

You take the bartenders that work extra nights and have another job they all seem to be looking for a spot to buy.

I have to laff at them they tell me if I ever get a spot I'll travel all over the world every winter.

I don't know where they get this dough but I know a fellow in 1940 that was broke he laid $14,000 on the line the other day for a house.

I know other guys who were broke in 1940 and the property they got now man alive. One of them showed me his cottage the other night he said I was dumb he said there was so much soft money around he was ashamed to take it.

This one fellow he is good he said his wife has been working since the war started and they both work extra at the RMR and he does other odd jobs he told me. Between the two of them they are making over $500 a month.

That's o. k. let them make it he told me—if you told me I was going to make over $200 a month in my life six years ago I would have had a cop come and take you to jail for six months then find out if you were a little nuts or not. I never laffed so much in my life this guy is really comical.

I get a big kick out of the guys telling me stuff if you meet the right guy you can have some fun.

He said he got a suit made by the tailor about a year ago he paid over $100 for it. He said he used to go in this store right years ago and put it on the books for a twenty-five dollar suit. Then it took him a year to pay for it.

U. S. Reds Gun for Harriman

Hostile to Soviet, Daily Worker Says

WASHINGTON— (U.P.) —American Communists appear to be gunning for W. Averell Harriman, the United States ambassador to Moscow.

Harriman inherited a great deal of money including a big block of stock in the Union Pacific railroad. But he was a consistent Roosevelt - for-president man. In 1943 he was sent by the late president to Moscow.

HARRIMAN

The Communist Daily Worker in a special article has charged that since the defeat of Germany Harriman has disclosed a "profound hostility to the Soviet Union."

The Communist organ cited a broadcast last week by Johannes Steel, a radio commentator, in which Harriman was alleged to have said that the "interests of the United States and the Soviet Union are irreconcilable."

By implication the paper said Harriman feels that the U. S. should declare war on Russia or, at the least, adopt policies designed to challenge the spread of Communism.

The attack on him is accompanied by a new development in the Communist party line here. The development is a challenge to U. S. foreign policy as it has been since Pres. Truman succeeded to the White House.

The procedure is to make objections on specific counts of foreign policy accompanied by implications that they are deviations from foreign policy as established during the Roosevelt administration.

In a resolution prepared by the national committee of the Communist Political assn. and printed in the Daily Worker there is this passage:

"It is imperative that the American people resolutely support every effort of the Truman administration to carry forward Roosevelt's program for victory, peace, democracy and 60,000,000 jobs. It is equally necessary that the people sharply criticize all hesitations to apply this policy and vigorously oppose any concessions to the reactionaries."

Witness Says A and P Undersold Potatoes

DANVILLE, Ill.—(U.P.)—A New York advertiser testified in the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.'s anti-trust trial Thursday that the chain store had sold Maine potatoes in Cleveland, O., at prices so low competitors had threatened to stop buying them.

Sturges Dorrance, a member of Brooke, French, and Dorrance, an advertising agency employed in promoting the state of Maine, said A. and P. sold Maine potatoes in Cleveland in 1940 for 15 pounds for 35 cents. This was only slightly higher than the wholesale price, he said.

Dorrance said A. and P. denied having been the first firm to establish the low price until he took the case to the National Association of Food Chains, of which the A. and P. was a member. The chain store then agreed to raise potato prices, he said.

James Roosevelts Expect First Child

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—(U.P.)—Mrs. James Roosevelt has confirmed reports she and her husband, eldest son of the late president, expect their first child in November.

Col. Roosevelt, 37, and the former Romelle Schneider, 29, who cared for him when he underwent an operation at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., were married here in April, 1941.

He is chief of staff of a marine corps amphibious group somewhere in the Pacific.

Madison Brass Takes Second Place

Mdison Brass defeated Frankies Tavern, 2-0, Friday night in the playoff of a rained out Major Softball League game, and the win, fourth against one defeat, gave its team second place in the first round standings.

Bob Goodman set the Tavernites down with two hits but his mates got only three off Buss Billington and Zachetti. Six walks and Goodman's homer, however, ruined the tallies. The line score:

Madison Brass	010	010	0—2	3
Frankies Tavern	000	000	0—0	2

Batteries: Goodman and Kane; Billington, Zachetti, and Villebrandt.

A former resident of Gotham, he received his wings in January, 1943.

Balloon-Bombs Ineffective, Piccard Says

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — (U.P.) — Dr. Jean Felix Piccard, stratosphere balloonist, predicted today that threatened Japanese balloon-bombing of the U. S. would be ineffective.

Piccard, professor of aeronautical engineering at the University of Minnesota, said that if the Japanese could land enough balloons on American soil to start 100 forest fires a day the country might face a great hazard.

PICCARD

But, the balloonist explained, it was unlikely that balloons could be directed at military objectives or cities with any accuracy because no matter where it is launched a balloon moves only with the wind.

Prevailing air currents, he said, are mostly from the west.

(Tokyo Radio Tuesday quoted a spokesman of the Japanese armed forces as predicting that piloted stratosphere balloons would attack the American mainland in "the near future." He said present attacks on the United States with pilotless balloons were only on an experimental scale.)

Japanese balloons which have reached the Western part of the United States probably were sent up from submarines, Piccard said. He ruled out the possibility of launching such devices from aircraft carriers or other craft because "the remainder of the Japanese fleet dare not come that close to American waters."

Piccard said he did not think a balloon could travel from the Japanese mainland to the North American continent.

"To make them effective weapons," he said, "the Japs can only hope to send out very many balloons equipped with fire bombs at a relatively close range."

"A balloon," the scientist added, "can stay in the air about 100 to 200 hours, hardly enough time for it to travel from Japan to the U. S. In any case, unless there are exceptionally favorable winds, there is no means of directing its course eastward, so that it might land as far north as Canada or Alaska, or as far south as Mexico."

Piccard, now 61, in an experiment in 1937, went aloft 2 miles and was carried more than 100 miles by some 80 small balloons from Rochester, Minn., to Lansing, Ia.

Veterans Hospital Official Reveals Mistreatment

WASHINGTON— (U.P.) —Fifteen soldiers were court martialed and seven civilian employes suspended or discharged for alleged mistreatment of patients at the Northport, L. I., Veterans hospital, the house veterans committee was told Friday.

Col. John H. Baird, assistant medical director of the Veterans Administration's neuropsychiatric division, made the disclosure at a hearing in response to questions asked by Rep. Bernard W. Kearney (R-N. Y.).

Baird read a letter from Edward Odom, Veterans Administration solicitor, to the Brooklyn U. S. district attorney, referring the civilian cases for possible prosecution.

"The evidence indicates a rather serious abuse of patients by soldiers," the letter said.

Odom told the committee he believed that 15 soldiers had been given court martial trials and that 13 had been convicted and two acquitted.

State OPA Raids Alleged Illegal Abattoir

MILWAUKEE — (U.P.) — John Johnson, 38, today was charged in a federal warrant with selling rationed meat without requiring surrender of ration points after Office of Price Administration (OPA) agents raided an alleged black market slaughterhouse on a farm near North Cape, Racine county.

It was the second raid in about a week by agents of the Milwaukee district against the alleged source of black market meat. The warrant against Johnson, who was said to have been in the midst of slaughtering cattle when the farm was raided, was issued by U. S. Commissioner Floyd E. Jenkins.

Agents claimed that one of them had persuaded him to sell a steer and a half weighing 718 pounds for $308 cash, or 43 cents per pound. This was more than double the OPA ceiling of 19¾ cents per pound wholesale for Grade A beef.

OPA agents said that Johnson had bought 24 steers at Pewaukee a year ago and slaughtered all but five of them. They described Johnson's slaughtering methods as crude and said that the barn where butchering was done reeked with filth in which part of the beef carcasses lay on the floor.

'Ike' Commanded 91 Allied Divisions, 60 of Them Yanks

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had 91 Allied divisions under his command to defeat Germany and 60 of them were American, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson announced Friday.

Of the American divisions, three were airborne, 15 armored, and 42 infantry. There were 14 British divisions, five Canadian, 11 French, and one Polish.

These were in addition to the armies in Italy, which included seven American divisions.

Stimson also disclosed that 40,000 American soldiers liberated from German prison camps are already back in the United States and more than 40,000 will arrive this month.

The remainder, about 10,000, will be back in July, he said.

"Inside Germany our military authorities are facilitating the return of Germans to food production," Stimson continued.

State Steel Tycoon Wills Million to Woman

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Mrs. Georgette Moran, attractive World War I widow today was ready to "go into hiding after all this publicity" attending disclosure that a Milwaukee steel tycoon had willed her his entire estate, estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

The handwritten will of Henry W. Wehr, 72-year-old former chairman of the board of the Wehr Steel Co., Milwaukee, who died May 17, was probated in Milwaukee Thursday. In it Wehr authorized the gift "to the woman I declare to be my lawful wife," although he had never wed.

Mrs. Moran said she and Wehr had known each other for 20 years. They were engaged but had postponed getting married because she was of the Greek orthodox religious faith and he a Roman Catholic, she said.

Wehr wrote the will without legal aid, but had it witnessed by two Milwaukeeans. He specified that "anyone contesting this will shall receive $1 only."

Louis Quarles, Milwaukee lawyer, said relatives had signed a waiver admitting no contest.

95,000 GIs Returned from Europe in 19 Days

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The army transportation corps has exceeded its scheduled quota by more than 14 per cent in returning 95,000 U. S. troops to this country from Europe during the 19-day period between "R" day May 12 and the end of the month, it was learned today at the war department.

Officials were also confident that the 250,000 quota for June would be reached or exceeded.

Wiley Denounces OPA as 'Cheese Bungler'

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), denounced OPA today for "cheese bungling."

He said in a statement that Wisconsin, "cheese center of the nation," faces a "grave decline" in cheese production because of "bureaucratic obstinacy" in the Office of Price Administration.

"It is high time," Wiley said, "for OPA to mend its ways and give America's cheese producers a break.

"I respectfully but forcefully urge that OPA immediately inaugurate action to correct its unjust cheese policies."

'Working Girl' Doris Duke Gets Medal

ROME — (U.P.) — Doris Duke, world's wealthiest woman, had a medal pinned on her by a Soviet general just because she was another American working girl, she said in an interview in Stars and Stripes.

DORIS DUKE

What's more, she was working when she went to the party Marshal Feodor Tolbukhin, commander of the Third Ukrainian army, gave for Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., commander of the American Third army.

Or so said Miss Duke who, it now develops, is a correspondent for an American news service.

"I was just doing what any good newspaperman would have done," she said, as she told about the party where Patton and Tolbukhin vied in gallantry by kissing the heiress.

It was a party in the gayest Russian style, said Miss Duke. There were vodka toasts, singing and dancing. The star of the show was a Russian girl who sang.

"The gallant Patton," said Stars and Stripes, "took the Bronze Star off his chest and presented it to the singer as a tribute to the part played by Soviet women in the war.

"Not to be outdone in gallantry, Tolbukhin whipped one of his medals off his uniform. He sent for Miss Duke who happened to be the only American woman at the party. He pinned the decoration on her, as his accolade to what America's working women had done to help the war effort.

State Women Voters Urge Trade Extension

Letters to U. S. Sens. Robert M. La Follette and Alexander Wiley urging extension of the reciprocal trades agreements act were mailed from here by the Wisconsin League of Women Voters, according to Mrs. Harold E. Harsh, president.

The letters expressed the belief that it was inconsistent to believe in competition and free enterprise on a national scale and then discourage that belief on an international scale by setting up high tariffs.

The league warned Wisconsin congressmen to beware of the economic chaos that followed the last World war and declared that tariffs were legislation in favor of special groups or regions instead of being beneficial for the nation as a whole.

2 Claim $14,264 Due for Truax Construction

Carl Mohs, Madison engineer, and George Peterson, Medford, Thursday filed suit in circuit court asking $14,264 from Milwaukee, and Decorah, Ia., drainage contractors, for unpaid bills incurred during the building of the Truax Field runways in 1942.

Mohs and Peterson allege that the contractors, the Frank Mashuda Co., and the A. R. Cofeen Co., signed a "modified" contract with them for work totaling $111,745. They claim that $97,480 has been paid and they have started suit for the balance.

In an answer the contractors deny that a "modified" contract was signed, and that Mohs and Peterson have been paid $98,484, an overpayment of $85,80.

The contractors have also filed a petition for a change of venue to Milwaukee county.

Couple Wed, Court Dismisses Morals Case

The charges of lewd and lascivious conduct against John P. Kelly, 33, and Darlene Bethel, 18, both of 911 Regent st., which were pending circuit court jury trial, were dismissed Friday by Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis on the motion of the district attorney.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Charles W. Totto told the court he had learned that the couple were married four days after their arrest May 24. Kelly is awaiting hearing on his extradition to Chicago where authorities want him for jumping a $60 hotel bill at the Palmer house.

Assembly Honors Schantz' Service

The assembly paid tribute to the life and service of Col. Nicholas M. Schantz, Madison, in a resolution adopted Friday. Col. Schantz, assistant adjutant general, died Tuesday. The joint resolution said he "served his department and the national guard with the greatest loyalty and devotion." It was presented by Assemblyman Alex Nicol (R-Sparta).

WPB Eases Restrictions on Farm Supplies

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Farmers have been given the same preference rating as other war supporting industries to buy necessary farm supplies the War Production Board has announced.

Previously the preference ratings on farm supplies extended only to wholesalers. Farmers no longer need to have approval of county farm rationing committees for purchase of machinery in excess of $50.

Among the 700 items affected by the order are axes, dry batteries, blow torches, corn hooks, grease guns, grun hoes, hand cultivators, various types of hardware, electric motors, pipe fittings, pumps, repair parts for tools, shears, shovels and spades, water storage tanks, wheelbarrows, and roofing and siding.

Sheriffs' Magazine Called a 'Racket' by Judge Neelen

MILWAUKEE — (U.P.) — District Judge Harvey L. Neelen Friday declared his belief that the Wisconsin Sheriffs' magazine is a "racket." Neelen's opinion was expressed in the case of Harry Arndt, 47, who was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Arndt was alleged to have represented himself as a sheriff's deputy to collect money from tavern keepers for advertisements in the magazine, which is published by Louis Salchek, director of the State Sheriffs' association. Arndt, who was placed on probation for one year, said he got money receipts from Ben Ellison, one of the magazine's solicitors, who was out of town and could not be found to testify.

Judge Neelen commended Milwaukee County Sheriff George Hanley for calling attention to the magazine.

3 Survive 'Shangri La' Plane Crash

MANILA— (U.P.) —Twenty persons were killed when a C-47 transport plane crashed into a New Guinea "Shangri La" last month, the army revealed Friday, but three aboard survived and soon will be brought out of the lost world.

An officer, an enlisted man, and a WAC, the only survivors, are under medical care while awaiting completion of an emergency air strip from which they can be flown out of the hidden valley in the Oranje mountains of Dutch New Guinea.

They are First Lieut. John S. McCollom, Trenton, Mo.; Technical Sgt. Kenneth W. Decker, Kelso, Wash.; and Corp. Margaret J. Hastings, Oswego, N. Y.

Filipino medical technicians parachuted into the valley as soon as the wreckage of the C-47 was found. Another C-47 dropped food, medical supplies, and a walkie-talkie radio.

Rescue plans call for bringing out the party by glider pickup.

Tenant Threatened to Kill Him, Nelson Says

A discontented tenant was fined $10 or 10 days in superior court Friday for assaulting his landlord, and was placed under a $100 "peace bond" for three months for threatening to kill the landlord.

The landlord, Atty. Robert N. Nelson, signed the complaint against the tenant, Melvin Roh, 34, of 551 W. Main st., claiming that Roh had threatened his life and had shook him by the coat lapels. Nelson said his tenant objected to him using court action to collect the rent, and had threatened to ruin the rented house by letting faulty bathroom fixtures "flood the place."

Bridges Counsel Seeks Fees from State

Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis today refused to set supreme court fees for the three attorneys of Corp. Robert R. Bridges, whose case will be reviewed next Thursday by the supreme court to determine if there was reversible error in the circuit court trial from which a jury found Bridges guilty of taking indecent liberties with a 7-year-old Madison girl.

The motion for fees for the high court hearing was made by Atty. Lucius A. Squires, who filed an affidavit declaring Bridges indigent. Reis ruled that it is mandatory that the supreme court set its own fees for attorneys, if the high court holds that Bridges is indigent.

Reis also said today that he will give "further consideration" to a request by Squire that he and the other two attorneys, Joseph G. Hirschberg and Martin M. Morrissey, be granted $200 fees by the county for five days in court and five days' preparation of the case of their "indigent" client.

Bridges, who was sentenced May 17 by Reis to serve 1 to 2 years in the state prison, is at liberty on $800 bail set by Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry until the writ of error hearing June 14.

Panzer Puts Fur Bearers Above Indian's Memory

Sen. Frank Panzer (R-Oakfield) won a slice of Horicon marsh fur sale proceeds for his constituents in Dodge county and $10,000 for mink and weasel damage to farmers' chickens Friday, but was bitter about senate approval of a $2,500 appropriation for marking the trail of Black Hawk, the Indian chief.

By substantial votes, Panzer won approval of the fur-sale-sharing and mink and weasel damage bills, the latter a measure that caused GOP Floorleader Warren Knowles, New Richmond, to comment that "now we're paying for everything but damage caused by field mice." But Panzer didn't like the Black Hawk trail idea.

"What difference does it make where some Indian went?" he demanded. "All he did was kill people, anyway. This it just another bill to create jobs for a few Madisonians.

The senate, however, concurred in the $2,500 appropriation by a 25-5 vote.
