George Burns and Gracie Ailen have been added to the cast of "Follow The Sun," forthcoming Bing Crosby picture. In the last 19 weeks, George and Gracie have made "Damsel in Distress" at RKO, taken four weeks vacation in New York (their first in three years), finished another picture, "College Swing," at Paramount, and still found time to handle their weekly bisadcasts. A colored comic named "Pigmeat"

Trousdale Church Linked in Robinson Case

The mother and daughter of the "mysterious Mrs. Rubens," are pictured above after they had been located at Miami, Fla. State Department officials are tracing the origin of Ruth Mary Rubens, whom they link with the missing "Mrs. Ruth Robinson" supposedly held in Russia as a spy. Her mother is Mrs. Emma Boerger, and her daughter is named Ruth.

to Celebrate Founders' Day on Ranch

For the second consecutive year, alumni of the University of Wisconthe state and nation will literally join hands on a night early in February to participate in a coast-tocoast celebration of the university's annual Founders' day, it was re-vealed today by John Berge, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Almni assn.

Berge annuonced that tentative plans were already being made for a campus faculty-alumni celebration of the university Founders day with a dinner meeting scheduled to be held in the Memorial Union. He also announced that many other Wis-Eindhoven, Netherlands—6 p. m.—

U.W. Alumni | 'Problem' Boys Aided

BOULDER, Colo. - (U.R) -W. H. Mitchell, former psychiatrist at sin who are scattered throughout the Kansas state penitentiary, has gone into the business of rehabilitating youths who are on the verge of losing control of themselves at his Sunset ranch here. His aim is to restore youths to normalcy when they are threaten-ed with losing their grip on contact with others.

He accepts commitments by juvenile judges, but prefers to discover boys who are on the "ragged edge" before they appear in court. This contact is made through parents who realize that their sons are taking steps which are leading them toward trouble and beyond the barriers accepted by society.

Mitchell operates through consistent discipline in helping the boys solve problems with which they are confronted. The "split" discipline exercised by a doting mother and a stern father or the reverse is of no help to the maladjusted youth, Mitchell believes. The Sunset ranch youths who become adjusted to school life are enrolled in Boulder high school, while those faced with maladjustment in their school work are tutored at the ranch. Each boy has two horses for which he must care. He makes his own bed. Each has certain obligations to meet.

Frequent conferences between the boys and Mitchell are designed to guide them in ridding themselves of either inferiority complexes or egoism.

Survey Made on Job Status of Older Men

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(U.P.) — In a search for a definite reason why the unemployed man under 40 has almost twice as good a chance of landing a job as the man over 40, Ralph M. Bashore, secretary of labor and industry, opened a survey based on a series of questions, in-

Do modern industrial processes require young and vigorous per-sons capable of high speed production?

Do new industrial processes require adaptable workers? Do group insurance or retirement plans influence a tendency to the employment of younger Is the higher cost of workmen's compensation a factor because the worker requires longer to mend? Has the older worker such family responsibilities as to make the wage scale favor the employment of those of younger years?

During the first nine months of the year, the state employment service reported, 43 per cent of the applicants for jobs were over 40, but only 31 per cent of the jobs in private industry went to that group. "And for every thousand applicants under 40 years," Bashore said, "63 were placed in private employ-ment, but for the workers over 40, only 37 out of every thousand could be placed.'
