Cleared in Boy's Death

CARION, Pa. (U.P.)—Harrison A. Hartman, the mild-mannered principal of Silgo consolidated school, Thursday was freed of charges that a whipping he gave Robert Wiser, 10-year-old diabetic schoolboy, caused the lad's death. The jury deliberated four hours before it decided Hartman was not guilty of charges of aggravated assault and battery. Hartman, however, was ordered to pay costs of the prosecution.

The boy died March 23 in an ambulance enroute to a Pittsburgh hospital, five days after he and two companions were whipped by Hartman for throwing stones at the school building.

Hartman, testifying in his own declared the boys were not injured by the "moderate whipping," and that he saw them later in the street and they were "laughing and giggling" with each other.

Earlier Hartman had charged members of the community were trying to get rid of him, and he demanded a "chance to clear" himself.
