Develop Your Earning Power guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hall Opening her first pay envelope! Pay day was only a dream to her, something that happened to other people-until she taught herself shorthand.

For, when you know shorthand you're a "skilled worker," in line for the better jobs, the higher Reary, Lond Chaplain, Elsalaries. And you can learn shorthand at home.

The widely used Pitman system is based on the way words sound, not the way they're spelled. You indicate the sounds in a whole five-letter word with one or two simple signs. "Store," for example, is written with a loop and a short dash. "Retail" is an "N" with two dots.

Our entire language is made up of the same few sounds, so you won't have many signs to learn. And if you get someone to dictate to you as you practice, you'll soon acquire real office sneed. The Pitman phrase forms are a great help, too. For common phrases like "if it is" you just
