

Fine Action-Packed Double Bill Set At Quilna Friday

"Go West, Young Lady" And "Honolulu Lu" Are Attractions; Ohio Offers Hepburn And Tracy In "Woman Of The Year"

A brace of action filled films, featuring physical leapings about of three very comely filmland femmes, is viewable at prevue time Friday evening at the Quilna theatre.

The dandy duo is "Go West, Young Lady" and "Honolulu Lu." That long-legged lovely, Ann Miller plus Penny Singleton take lead honors in the western creation while squirmy Lupe Velez is the major movement in the second opus. "Go West" is billed as a horse opera with "oomph," including a battle between Ann Miller and Singleton.

"Honolulu Lu" is chiefly hula dancing with a Spanish accent. Up until preview time "Remember the Day" shows at the Quilna. Strictly fast stuff amongst the newspaper folk goes on in "Woman of the Year," now at the Ohio theatre. Katharine Hepburn plays the role of a sophisticated gal columnist while Spencer Tracy is a rugged sports writer.

"The Bride Wore Crutches" is a prime piece of comedy now in its last stages of display at the Lyric theatre. The film has that old scene stealer Edgar Kennedy, off "slow burn" fame. Also ported is a thriller, "South of Panama."

That strong blonde man of the many-chambered six-shooters, "Hopalong" Cassidy, blasts his way to glory in "Stick to Your Guns" currently at the Sigma theatre. As usual, the famous Western sleuth has an excellent supporting cast. "Four Jacks and a Jill," built around the twists of Ray Bolger and Anne Shirley, is Number Two attraction.

A new whodunit specialty, "The Gay Falcon," opens this day at the State theatre. Now known as the leader in super-crime stuff is George Sanders, the slick gent who originally played some "Saint" roles. To keep the film fare in balance, "Appointment for Love" intrudes a romantic element.

OHIO
The problem of the "career woman" is given refreshing treatment in the new photoplay, "Woman of the Year," at the Ohio theatre, with Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn giving brilliant portrayals in their first appearance together on the screen.

Tracy is the rugged, solid newspaper sports writer. Miss Hepburn is the highly sophisticated columnist on international affairs. Completely extreme in temperament and outlook, the two personalities attract each other nevertheless and, after a whirlwind courtship, are married. The result is that the honeymoon is interrupted on the very wedding night when an escaped Serbian leader bursts into their room. The new bride has a scoop on the Balkan situation and is delighted. Not so the groom. This ominous start leads to a marriage life in which Tracy discovers that he is expected to scramble eggs while Miss Hepburn writes her column, and reaches the breaking point when she is voted "America's Outstanding Woman of the Year." Plenty of dramatic waters runs under the mill before a satisfactory solution is reached.

Tracy makes his newspaper man a completely human and credible being, and Miss Hepburn even surpasses her work in "The Philadelphia Story" in a role in which she combines warmth and dramatic fire. The stars are given sterling support in the performances of Fay Bainter, playing a dominant feminist, Reginald Owen, as a newspaper managing editor, Minor Watson, William Bendix, Gladys Blake, Dan Tobin, Roscoe Karns and William Tannen.

Director George Stevens has gotten the best out of his performers and story and has seen to it that the action of his plot never lags. A word must also be said for the effective photography of Joseph Ruttenberg, and the musical score, written by Franz Waxman.

QUILNA
Versatility is the test of any actress, and it is for just this reason that Claudette Colbert ranks at the very top in Hollywood. For the talented brunette has proven time and again that she can come thru in any sort of a role.

Claudette is continually amazing the vast motion picture public with her ability along entirely different lines—and her career is a succession of smash hits, "Boom Town," "It Happened One Night," "Imitation of Life" and "Drums Along the Mohawk," just to mention a few, were tremendous hits—and they all showed a different Colbert.

Given the opportunity to choose an outside picture to do, Claudette spent weeks reading scripts and investigating suggested films. After looking them all over, she signed forthwith to do "Remember the Day," the film at the Quilna theatre.

This marks a return for her to

Crosby And Bob Cats To Be Heard With Mickey Rooney

Vic Mature And Charles Coburn Set For Guest Appearances On Music Hall Program On Thursday Evening

Bob Crosby, popular young orchestra leader of radio and the films, and his Bob Cats will complete the Music Hall's guest panel for the airing of Thursday at 9 p.m. over WEA-F. As previously announced, filmmakers Victor Mature and Charles Coburn will put in guest appearances.

Mickey Rooney, who is substituting as emcee for Bing Crosby while the old maestro participates in golf tournaments for the benefit of the Red Cross, will sing "Love's Got Nothing On Me" with the Music Mails and Hal.

With Mary Martin he will sing "Our Love Affair." Mary's songs will be "Everything I Love," "Don't Want To Walk Without You" and a surprise number.

"Money," sports John Barrymore, "of course I understand money. In some quarters I am called Barrymore the Wolf."

"The title," adds the Great Profile, "refers strictly to Wall Street."

On Rudy Vallee's show at 10 p. m. "The Wolf" is due to be duped. Barrymore's financial wizardry, according to advance information, enables him to slip easily into the role of a banking house president. Woo befalls the House of Barrymore, tho, when Humphrey Bogart, Hollywood's number one bad man, tackles the office wife.

Maudie and Davy—much to their dismay—find themselves heirs to an over-evaluating monkey in the latest episode of "Maudie's Diary," to be presented at 9:30 p. m. The zealous little ape causes Maudie no ends of confusion, bringing her to the grim realization that "Monkeys Are the Craziest People."

SUIT TO STOP COMPENSATION PAY IS OUSTED

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19 — (AP)—Because a wrong type of action was filed, the Ohio supreme court has dismissed a taxpayer's suit to stop industrial compensation payments to state employees. Edward L. Smith of Cleveland, in a mandamus action brought in the high court, contended the compensation fund was insolvent because its appropriation by the legislature was not on an actuarial basis. The tribunal ruled Smith must seek an injunction in a lower court. The court affirmed a decision of the state board of tax appeals in refusing to grant the East Liverpool board of education more money for 1941 than was allowed by the Columbiana-co budget commission. Mrs. Mary Hughes of Oxford had the court dismiss her action to compel the Butler-co common pleas court to re-open litigation to have her property declared exempt from state taxes. She had contended that the original congressional grant of funds for Miami university, of which her property was a part, had been tax-exempt.
