Art to Stress

Agriculture

Wisconsin and War,

Many creations showing Wisconsin agriculture in the war program are expected to be among the hundreds of rural life pointings exhibited in the fifth art show at the State fair, Aug. 22-28, at Milwaukee, according to A. N. Colt, Madison, art superintendent at the fair. Wisconsin rural life will again be the theme of the entire exhibit in the Fine Arts gallery, Colt an-nounced. Premiums totaling $600

Exhibits must be delivered to sionals and $272 to amateurs.

89% of Wisconsin State Brand Cheese Rated at 'U.S.1'

Over 89 per cent of the Wisconsin State brand cheese inspected for government purchase between Mar. 1 and July 4 was accepted as U. S. No. 1, Ralph E. Ammon, director of the state department of agriculture, revealed today. Grading records of the departnent show that the government accepted 943,426 boxes of Wisconsin State brand American cheese as U. S. No. 1 out of 1,059,652 boxes inspected during that period, Ammon said.

The cheese industry is confident, he asserted, that the small percentage of State brand cheese rejected will be further reduced now that the state's supervising American cheese graders have been returned from lend-lease grading to full-time supervision of grading at

Bookstore Romance Leads to Wedding for Ruth Hussey

HOLLYWOOD -(U.P)- Screen Star Ruth Hussey honeymooned today with C. Robert Longenecker, southern California businessman soon to be an army private.

Miss Hussey and Longnecker were married late Sunday at Pala mission. After a wedding supper at the mission inn in Riverside, Calif., they left for an unannounced destination for their honeymoon. The screen star and Longenecker met several months ago in a Hollywood bookshop while both were searching for rare editions of Dickens' works. Several weeks later, Longenecker sent Miss Hussey a copy of a rare Dickens edition collectors' item, and the romance began.

Longenecker faces induction into the army soon and Miss Hussey must report for work at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio Thursday.
