

Charlie McCarthy Returns To Air For Fall On Sunday

"Blondie's Heartbeat Goes Haywire" To Feature Labor Day Broadcasts: Donlevy-Smith On "Cavalcade"

Fresh from a camp tour of Newfoundland, fresh from the purchase of a real jail for crooks and fresh from just being himself, Charlie McCarthy is coming back to the air Sunday, with most of the old and some new stooges and helpers (WEAF, 8 p. m., EWT). Backed by Steege No. 1, Edgar Bergen, Charlie will demonstrate that the gleam in his eye is as expert as ever by presenting as his first guest star of the new series the lovely and Impish Jean Arthur, star of many top-notch movie comedies.

An expert in handwriting analysis almost puts Dagwood in the pen by identifying him as a man who chases women with intention of murdering them with an axe, during "Blondie's Heartbeat Goes Haywire" over WABC Monday at 7:30 p. m., EWT. Dagwood finds that the chop talk leads to plenty of grief but the ingenious scribbler of the series finally brings the episode to a surprising but happy conclusion.

A story of daring in the best tradition of the Navy, titled "Double Play" and co-starring Brian Donlevy and Kent Smith, will be heard on "Cavalcade of America" Monday over WEAF at 8 p. m., EWT. This is "Cavalcade of America's" first fall broadcast.

One of Ferde Grofe's best known compositions — "Daybreak" — will be played by David Broekman's orchestra on the "Here's to Romance" program Sunday at 6:30 p. m. over WJZ.

Harvey Shapiro, noted young cellist, will be soloist for the symphony's performance of Camille Saint-Saens' Concerto in A Minor, the feature work to be played on the Symphony of the Air program Sunday over WEAF at 5 p. m., EWT.

Two prominent cinema stars, Warner Baxter and Ruth Warrick, are co-featured when the "Screen Guild Players" present their radio version of "The Major and the Minor" on Monday at 10 p. m. over Station WABC.

"Keepsakes," a musical series recalling precious memories of better times and featuring Dorothy Kirsten, Mack Harrell, and a chorus and orchestra under the direction of Harry Sosrik, will bow over WJZ Sunday at 8:30 p. m., EWT, replacing "Inner Sanctum Mystery."

Playing a program made up entirely of music written by feminine composers, Phil Spitalny and his all-girl orchestra pay tribute to women in war work in their "Hour of Charm" broadcast Sunday, SEPTEMBER 5

LAW PREVENTS GOVERNOR FROM ACCEPTING BET

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 4.—(UP)—West Virginia's statute against betting today kept Governor Neely from accepting the challenge of Governor Dwight Griswold, of Nebraska, to wager a "beautiful, big corn-fed Nebraska hog" that the western state will exceed its war bond quota by more percentage points than West Virginia.

ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE MOVES OFFICES

Offices of the Lima Association of Commerce are now located on the fifth floor in Cook Tower. The move from the bank room on Cook Tower's ground floor was made over the week-end. James V. Skaates, secretary, said the new headquarters will be in readiness Tuesday for continued operation of all A. of C. functions. The new quarters, which house all the Association's general offices including the traffic department, afford better accommodations for the general public as well as employees. Records indicate that dive bombing was first used by the Marines in Haiti.

Delphos Sect Marks Fifth Anniversary

(Lima News Bureau) DELPHOS, Sept. 4.—It is just five years ago Sunday that the present structure of the Pilgrim Holiness congregation was dedicated, altho the congregation was organized as far back as June 1936. From November, 1934, until June, 1936, it was not formally adopted into the Pilgrim Holiness denomination. When Rev. C. A. Ford came from Lima to shepherd the Marble-town flock, its meeting place was in residence property but not for long after Rev. Ford's arrival, as the home proved inadequate. Rev. Ford now is at Barborton.

The minister visioned a real church structure and gave that vision to others. A lot on S. Bredeck-st was donated by the Delphos Quarries Co., of which Elza Mann is the local head. It may have been coincidence, but anyway, just about that time the J. G. Birkmeier and Sons, had a two-story structure at Canal and Second-sts about to be torn down. Otto J. Birkmeier donated it to Ford. Headed by the pastor and his sons, the congregation members hauled the material to the site and starting on April 23, 1938, the church was dedicated on Labor Day Sunday of that year. The church opened free of debt.

Some material had to be purchased and toward that end, Delphos citizens throught the city dug

So that there will be no shortage, the treasury has had 100,000,000 bonds printed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The bonds have been distributed to issuing agents all over the country and will be easily available to the army of 5,000,000 volunteer salesmen who will conduct the campaign. The volunteer army will operate under the generalship of Ted R. Gamble, national director of the treasury war finance division.

Rev. Ford left here three years ago to become pastor of a church in Port Clinton and later he took over his present work at Barborton. He was succeeded here by Rev. Paul Veville, who last month accepted a call to Danville and he has been succeeded here by Rev. E. E. Boggs of Arthur.

A number of special advisory committees will work at the headquarters of the treasury war finance division. Among them will be the Allied Newspaper Council, headed by Frank E. Tripp, of the Gannett Newspapers; war advising council, headed by Chester Laroche, Biloxi, Miss.; war activities committee of the motion picture industry, with Francis Harmon, Greensboro, N.
