It Happened Last Night

(By Earl Wilson)

Frank Sinatra came into Toots Shor's in a sailor suit-after which eye-witnesses began clamoring for a bigger army and bigger air force. Frankie in a sailor suit's nothing to be sneezed at (because if you sneeze, you might blow him over).

Mr. Shor hinted subtly at this when he whispered to Frankie in the soft accents of an excited Ozark mule, "Thank God, we ain't got sailors like YOU protectin' the country."

Old Salt Sinatra, such a seadog in his middy that he was having a schooner (of beer), remarked to a friend:

"We're shooting a picture. That's why I'm wearing this." Toots snorted something about how bad can the mov-ies get and wandered away to say hello to Sonja Henie, Faye Emerson and other customers, and I reflected on the unreality of everything. Frankie, Gene Kelly and Jules Munshin are in from Hollywood, doing sailor parts in an MGM picture, "On the

"Hello, Mr. Wilson. I'm Joan Fontaine."

This treatment is accorded to all movie stars and is nothing unusual. I'm not criticizing it, I'm only point-ing out that it's small wonder that movie folk can't always play their parts realisticaly.

"Im the one really having a ball," spoke up Comedian Jules Munshin, also in a sailor suit, also fiercely warlike.
"What these two big stars, Sinatra and Kelly, do suffer!"

"They got to hide in the car from their fans. They got to sit back and slump down in the Cadillac for miles. Me, I don't have to hide. I just l don't have to nice. I just look at the people and say, 'How do you do?' and they say, 'Who's that jerk?'

"Of course," Munshin said, "I wouldn't mind having to hide."

Frank said, "We went to the chestra with its new conductor, Antal Dorati, will play at the Wisconsin Union theater Feb. 19 at matinee and evening performances next season, according to the chairman of the Union's music committee, Barbara Connell.

The Minneapolis symphony has been a regular campus visitor for many seasons. Its former conduc-tor, Dimitri Mitropoulos, was chosen as the permanent conduc-tor of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony recently.

Dorati comes to the Minneapolis post with a long record of con-ducting accomplishments. He has guest-conducted most of the great orchestras of the United States, Europe, England, Australia, and South America, and is particularly famed as a ballet conductor with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and the Ballet theater.

He also has been permanent conductor of the Dallas Symphony orchestra.
