Australia May Unionize Its Baby Sitters. CANBERRA, Australia.—(U.P.)—The federal executive of the Australian Labor party wants baby sitters classified as an occupation. Members feel that the occupation of baby sitters has become of national importance. They also want baby sitters to be provided through the government employment service. A. S. McAlpin, president of the A.L.P. executive, said it an award is made for baby sitters, they would come under the Miscellaneous Workers' Union.

Edgerton Man Gets Probation for Theft. Joseph S. Raymond, 24, Edgerton, was placed on probation for 1-to-3 years Wednesday afternoon in superior court after pleading guilty to burglarizing a Lake Koshkonong cottage Nov. 4. Raymond had pleaded not guilty at his arraignment last week. Deputy Sheriff Thomas Peterson, who arrested Raymond, said the Edgerton man and a juvenile companion took a small radio and several items of food from the cottage of Thomas Johnson, a Chicago newspaper photographer. Raymond's father, Superior Judge Roy H. Proctor, had taken the food because he was out of work and he and his wife had nothing to eat in the house.

Bus Firm Operator Denies Zone Violation. Herman Meier, operator of the Badger Bus Lines Inc., 1313 Regent st., pleaded not guilty in superior court Wednesday afternoon to charges of violating the city's zoning ordinance. The complaint was signed by the City Building Supt. Ray F. Burt, who charged that Meier was violating the ordinance by parking his buses and trucks in lots facing Bowen st. in back of his Regent st. garage. Burt said Meier has been given warnings for the past three months to move his vehicles from the lot after the city board of appeals had refused a request to rezone the lots. Superior Judge Roy H. Proctor set Meier's trial for Dec. 7.
