NEW YORK, Sept. 15. (P) Stepped-up defense spending, more jobs, new production records and some raw materials shortages stitute on youth activities here were in the cards this week.

Prices? The picture wasn't clear cut. A few items-bed sheets, for instance-were down a little. Automobile prices were on the way up. Some meat prices seemed certain to be headed higher. Government reports of lush grain and cotton crops, however

Crude oil production hit another record high this week-6,199,400 barrels. This compared with 6,151,300 barrels the previous Business loans exceeded previous peaks—$19,586,000,000 against $19,502,000,000 the previous week and $14,932,000,000 a year ago. Spending was at a high rate. Money in circulation hit $28,216,000,000

Business leaders disagreed on whether these things were building up to inflationary dangers that would leave the economy sitting on a powder keg.

There came from the welter of discussion, however, two points upon which business leaders were in complete accord—the government must economize stringently and taxes under the pending that the country is in good financial shape.

Industry turned out a nice production record in the face of some shortages and labor troubles.

The steel industry produced at 100 per cent of rated capacity, an improvement over the previous week's 98.3 per cent and a year

75,303 tons, about the same as the June total.

the holiday intervened and 185,421 a year ago.

The government reported industrial production jumped five index points during August, compared with July. The August index rate was 218, compared with 213 in July and 222 in June. The index is based upon the 1933-39 period as equalling 100

The reaction to the week on the New York Stock Exchange was one of higher prices. On one day the market stumbled a bit. But it recovered quickly and continued its cautious advance.

A hundred men and women representing the PTA and Community Chest youth agency staffs took part in an all-day in-

A presentation of policies of agency organization and sponsorship was given in a panel discussion, with the following participating: Mrs. J. H. Koekkoek of the Parent-Teacher Council; Mrs. O. T. Ellis, YWCA; Glenn Snyder, YMCA; Mrs. Florence Johnson, Girl Scouts; Mary Schellenberg, Camp Fire Girls, and Albert Davis, Boy Scouts. Also small groups discussed youth programs of the Chest agencies and planned a survey of youth interests.

Mrs. Everett M. Findlay, president of the Parent Teacher Council, presented Coy Saunders of the City Juvenile Bureau, who spoke on "The Importance of Working Together."

The event was planned by Red
