The Boston Symphony orchestra has often been described as the world's greatest symphonic organization. During its 74 years in Boscess. Its broadcasts and its recordcan cities it has played, the orchestra has been a consistent sucton and in the many other Ameriings for RCA Victor have made it lighting the problems of the artist, familiar to music lovers all over the collector and the layman, and this country and in other parts of the activities of museums, art galthe world. Its tour of Europe several years ago was a triumph.

Ben Grauer, commentator, and for many years "the voice of music" on NBC, will be heard weekly on the broadcasts.

Nightly Chase

"Mr. and Mrs. North." who will soon celebrate their 12th anniversary at their whimiscal, often reluctant but always effective pursuit of criminials, will be on the trail five nights weekly on CBS radio when they introduce a new five-a-week format on Monday at 9:15 p.m. The Norths (Barbara Britton and Richard Denning) will launch their new format with a six-episode case titled "Night Walk." It's the story of a girl who walks in her sleep and wakes up to find herself accused of a crime.

Brunot Is Guest

James Brunot, of Newtown, developer of the game of Scrabble, will be Claire Emory's guest on "This is Your Time," on Tuesday at 10 am., over WSTC in Stamford. He will explain how and why he became associated with the game. He thought it could grow into a small business he could work at when he retired. "Instead." he says, "the people of America have taken the game by storm.

He will aso tell of his association with various government agencies ous service and features the choir during the war and before the war of Central Synagague in New York his particular work with welfare agencies.

Opera Excerpts

Excerpts from Richard Wagner's opero "Tannhauser" will be broadcast as recorded during the past summer at the Bayreuth Opera Festival at Wagner's own opera house, on CBS radio's "World Opera Festvals.. this afternoon at 2:35 o'clock. The "new' 1954 production of "Tannhauser," under the direction of Wagner's grandson, Wieland originial Dresden version and the later Paris version of the opera. It differs from the customary production in that the parts of the shepherd and the six pages, usually sung by women, are sung in Bayreuth by boys.

The cast includes Ramon Vinay as Tannhauser, Herta Wilfret as Venus, Josep Greindl as the Land.

Ronald Reagan was in Bridgeport for a couple of days last but attends as many movie preweek as the guest of the General Electric company. The Hollywood actor is serving his first season as program supervisor and as a film star to support the indushost for the new "General Electric Theater" series on CBS television . . . Part of his assignment will include trips throughout the country to visit G-E plant cities and meet with company plant officials and employes. Reagan has been a Hollywood star for years, having signed his first film contract with Warner Brothers back in 1937.

During his years in the film capiture industry and on numerous oclywood as its top good-will ambas-

He is especially enthusiastic about working in television and feels that it is a challenging industry for new writers and acting talent. This past summer he spent many hours feading and re-reading scripts which were submitted for approval to be used on the new G-E series.

Reagan, an out-doors fan who lives on his 357-acre ranch in Lake Malibu, Calif., was born in Tampico, III., Feb. 6, 1911, the younger of two sons. His parents are John Edward and Nellie Wilson. His father's parents were born in County Cork, Ireland; his mother is of English-Scottish ancestry and is descended from Lord Napier who set the foundation for Maritime

He won yarsity letters in football, casions has effectively served Hol- track and swimming, was given honorable mention in a drama contest sponsored by Northwestern university, and in campus politics became president of the college student body.

After getting his BA degree in 1932, Reagan set his sights on being an actor and decided to audition as a radio announcer. He mapped out a list of radio stations in the Midwest, borrowed the family auto and at his first stop, in Davenport, Iowa, did so well in an audition of a baseball game that the program director gave him a job on the local station. When the station became a part of a national network, his coverage of major league basketball, Big Ten football and other sports won national attention.

First Movie Contract

While in Los Angeles covering the Chicago Cubs training camp near Catalina island, Joy Hodges, the singer, introduced him to an agent who got him his first screen test at Warner's. His first movie, "Love is on the Air" (1937) showed him in the role of radio commenta-
