

Today's Radio Highlights

On January 3, 1931, Lily Pons made her debut in this country as "Lucia di Lammermoor" on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House. This afternoon, the petite fiotura returns to her role as the Donizetti heroine for her second opera broadcast of the season—WMAL, 1:55 p. m.

Frank Gannett, who has already announced himself as a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, discusses "Our Country" in the second of a series of five broadcasts presented by the National Republican Club—WRC, 2 p. m.

Alice Prowse, Australian contralto, makes her American radio debut in a recital of Australian aboriginal and New Zealand Moari songs—WRC, 3:15 p. m.

A benefit broadcast for The Post Blood Bank: A description is aired from the Children's Hospital of a blood transfusion—WJSV, 3:45 p. m.

WJSV inaugurates its series of local dramatic competition. The Players of the Interior Department play "Bells Beneath the Sea"—WJSV, 4 p. m.

Senator Robert R. Reynolds (Democrat), of North Carolina, speaks on "Immigration"—WRC, 6:45 p. m.

Prof. Lyman Bryson, chairman of the informal People's Platform, guides discussion on the topic, "Should There Be An Embargo on Export of War Materials to Japan?"—WJSV, 7 p. m.

Gale Page, now a film star, plays Arch Oboler's satire on the gold coast, "Hollywood Special"—WRC, 8 p. m.

The Wanamaker Mile and other races of the annual Millrose Games find Glenn Cunningham, Gene Venzke, Chuck Fenske, Don Lash and Gregory Rice in the running—WOL, 10 p. m. and WRC, 10:30 p. m.

Bernardino Molinari leads the final concert of his series with the N. B. C. Symphony. Next week the podium will be occupied by Bruno Walter—WMAL, 10 p. m.

Dr. George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, whose findings appear in The Post twice weekly, spoke earlier this evening before the Baltimore Advertising Club. Mutual relays a transcription—WOL, 10:45 p. m.